

THE CALIFORNIA OPEN, ROUND BY ROUND

The large job of the sign-up of the 100 players in the 1962 California Open having been completed on Saturday morning, September 1, tournament director Herbert T. Abel sorted out his pairing cards and announced the first round games. This round is between the "sheep" and the "goats" and only one or two "sheep" registered upsets. Ex-champion Tibor Weinberger of Los Angeles was shocked by Michael Leidner of Canoga Park; Sven Almgren, a former champion, was held to a draw by Clare Ulrich, both of Hollywood; and John Blackstone of Saratoga was held to a draw (if this can be considered an upset) by Joseph Lee of Union City, N.J.

Round Two, the afternoon round on the first day and the second of the two 30-moves-per-hour rounds, went along on schedule except that Almgren and Blackstone met head on as both were trying to atone for the first round, and the veteran master Almgren was beaten.

Round Three, on Saturday night, started the 40-moves-in-two-hours rounds and wound up an exhausting day's play. As the high-rated players settled down to work in earnest, the usual upset was recorded when State co-champion Irving Rivise of Los Angeles was defeated by Enos Wicher of Claremont.

When Round Four started on Sunday, there were nine players with perfect scores. Walt Cunningham of Arcadia was paired with Stephen Matzner of Los Angeles in a rematch of the California college championship's key game, and Cunningham won again. Bill Addison of San Francisco drew with Ray Martin of Simi (in retrospect this was the decisive game of the tournament), F. Turim of Palo Alto defeated Ron Gross of Compton, Bob Cross of Los Angeles drew with Rex Wilcox of Salinas, and Wicher lost to Blackstone.

Round Five began on Sunday night with only two perfect scores, and the tie was broken when Cunningham beat Turim. In the $3\frac{1}{2}$ point group Addison beat Wilcox, Martin beat H. Noland of Chico (who had upset the veteran Sidney Weinbaum of Los Angeles in the previous round), and Cross drew with Blackstone.

Round Six started early on Monday morning with Cunningham having the only perfect score. There followed Addison and Martin with $4\frac{1}{2}$ points. Cunningham was paired with Addison, and Martin was paired with Turim. Both games were drawn, leaving Cunningham still alone on top.

Round Seven gave Martin a chance to knock Cunningham off his throne, but the youngster won the game. Addison won a clear second place by beating Blackstone in a good game. Roy Hoppe of San Francisco and Don Foley of San Jose started the round even with Addison and Martin, but fell back to a tie for third with a draw.

Meanwhile, the Reserves Section had been set up after the fourth round, comprising those with less than 50% scores. Harold Zwerdling of Downey won three straight, carried over $1\frac{1}{2}$ points, and took the trophy with $4\frac{1}{2}$ points. There was a tie for second place by Joseph Lee and Dan McLeod of Millbrae.

The prize money was the same as last year: Cunningham took home $105 and the trophy. Addison received the $75 second prize. Turim, Foley, Hoppe, Andrew Schoene, Rivise, and Noland divided third through eighth prizes for $36 each, and the 5 pointers Martin, Bob Baker, Cross, Blackstone, Weinberger, Curtis Wilson and Matzner received $14 each.
