

MY ONCE IN A LIFETIME PUBLISHED
CHESS BRILLIANCY

BY

U.S.C.F. member G. Castleberry, author of the published statement:

“ In chess the sacrifice of material for positional advantage is considered brilliant strategy, if it works. ”

A CHESS PLAYER'S POEM

To become a chess master within a year
To play losing variations is my fear
I only hope my game will be clickin
Against all my opponents my brain will be tickin

The tournament players I know I must subdue
And when I fail, it sure will be a dismal view
The prize money, some day soon, I hope to plunder
The glory in my eyes, will be for all to wonder

Bobby Fischer, you know, the champion of the spheres
To every chess player's own ego it appears
To be a world champion is a very nice thing
To the United States great glory did he bring

Taking the cap of hope for my very bonnet
While I do rack my brain to write this poor sonnet
I know that to be a loser will make me sad
But to be a winner, would surely make me glad
