

Our Chess Corner

(Address All Communications, Solutions, Etc., to CHESS EDITOR, SAN FRANCISCO CALL)

We take it that anything "touchin' on or appertainin' to" that romantic group of men known to history as the forty-niners is of interest, especially to residents of the golden state. Frank R. Rodolph of Oakland, whose name has regularly appeared in the weekly Solvers' List since the inception of The Call Chess Corner, in forwarding his solutions for the problems printed February 22 also gave the following sketch of his chess career (which, as will be noted, began some years ago). Mr. Rodolph very kindly gave permission for the use of such parts of his letter as might be of general interest, saying: "You are welcome to use my letter if it will help you in keeping up the chess portion of The Call."

"I learned the game in 'Old Hangtown' in 1856 by watching my father and some of the forty-niners play, and in the course of a year or so I could play a fair game. As I was only 19 years old when I left the mines, I do not remember the names of the old chess players. We did not come in early enough to be Pioneers, as we arrived in Placerville on the first day of September, 1856, nine days before California was admitted to the union, and the Pioneers only took members in that arrived on or before January 1, 1850."

It is to be regretted that Mr. Rodolph can not recall the names of those valiant Argonauts who searched out the yellow metal by day and at night, by a flickering candle's beams or perhaps under the dreamy light of a full moon, procured recreation and mental stimulus at chess. What a godsend this great game must have been to them, cut off from the outside world, and without means of diversion! Even a jumping frog was pressed into service in the early days! So, to paraphrase Cervantes, "Blessings on the man that invented chess!"

Another interesting item in Mr. Rodolph's letter was: "Although I have not played for 20 years (I still love to solve the problems), I have always held my end up against any one I played with except Ferdinand Schliemann, brother of Heinrich Schliemann, the archaeologist, who unearthed the ruins of Pompeii, also a strong player. I could not hold a candle with him, but he taught me many openings."

Such is the character of men who play chess. Well has it been styled the game of kings.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, "Old Hangtown" is Placerville, El Dorado county, Cal., the scene of many a tragedy, where "bad men" were given short shrift. Hence the poetic appellation—"Hangtown."

The Call Chess Corner probably has the honor of having the youngest problem solver of any column in America. Miss Merle Silvius, 9 years old, who learned the moves two years ago, has been a faithful reader of The Call chess column, and has finally succeeded in solving problem No. 8, by Doctor Gold, absolutely unaided. As for problem No. 7, by A. J. Fink, she thought she had found the correct key-move and sent in R-KB3. She had some excellent company among considerably older heads. Miss Merle plays a fairly strong game over the board and is rapidly improving.

O. H. Frazier, 426 North Burlington Avenue, Los Angeles, who, in spite of the pressure of other affairs, has consented to act as captain of the southern California correspondence team in the proposed match with the players of northern California, writes that he is rounding up the correspondence players in the southern cities. According to Mr. F., "if the match is played, I fully expect the south to win decisively." (There's a neat suggestion for The Call Blackjacks' contest. The book is Dickens' "Great Expectations.") Dr. Fred Baker of San Diego, who was a visitor at the Mechanics' Institute club this week, said that eight or ten members of the Cabrillo club would take part. Such a match will do much to revive interest in chess here in California, and all who are willing to play chess by correspondence should enter their names at their convenience. Santa Barbara has been suggested as the dividing line. A prize of $5 worth of chess goods has been offered for the best game, and no doubt, if sufficient interest is taken and the number taking part justifies it, other prizes will be added. George Halloran, 57 Post street, San Francisco (Mechanics' Institute Chess club), will act as captain for the northern California players and will arrange details of play, etc., with Mr. Frazier. Rules governing correspondence play will be printed in this column. If the same conditions prevail as in the great New York vs Pennsylvania correspondence match of several years ago, each player will play two games with his opponent, thus giving every one a chance to play the white pieces. In correspondence match play the competitors are usually paired according to their strength, so as to make the individual games of interest.

GAME DEPARTMENT

Following is another correspondence game, one of four, between Mr. A. P. Davis of North Yakima, Wash., and Mr. Hunnix of Nelson, B. C., who plays Board No. 1 on his club's telegraph team. Mr. H. won an Evans gambit, and two games were drawn:
